P. M. Smith and Fred Smith motored to Beecher Falls last Wednesday where they visited the judge.

Mrs. D. M. Smith, Mrs. J. C. Warren, Mrs. Mary Tisdale, Mrs. May Morrill and F. ed Smith took advantage of bargain day at St. Johnsbury last Friday.

Mrs. James Higgins, who has spent the summer at Scott's, N. H., recently spent several days with M. A. Frank Fisher. She went last Monday to St. Johnsbury where she will visit her son, Ed Higgins.

Mrs. Stella Folsom will be at Mrs. McDonald's on Thursday of this week with a full line of millinery.

Manual Training.

The board of directors of the St. Johnsbury public schools are in a position to offer extension courses in the manual training, the latter consisting of shop work and mechanical drawing.

In the shop work and mechanical drawing, two courses will be offered, one elementary and the other advanced. Classes will meet twice a week for 10 weeks, omitting the two weeks of the Christmas vacation, the same as the public schools. The maximum number in each class that can be accommodated is nineteen and the minimum number is 15. A fee of $5 for the course of 10 weeks will be charged. This will cover the cost of material and all other necessary expenses. The date of registration will be Friday, Nov. 13, from 7 to 9 P. M.

It is hoped in this way that the public school equipment may be of service to as many young men as possible, who wish to secure instruction along these lines.

SHEFFIELD

Joseph Barber suffered a hard shock last Sunday.

T. A. Randall got the election for town representative on the third ballot last Tuesday.

There was a good company out to the M. E. donation last Friday evening. The receipts were $54.

W. J. Smith is putting an addition on his barn.

The state councilor and the national vice councilor of the D. of L., visited Pleasant Valley Council last Wednesday evening. A very interesting meeting was held, a fine supper served and a fine time in general was enjoyed. There were three new names presented which shows that a lodge is capable of promotion without men joining it.

Remember the social and chicken pie supper served by the gentlemen at the Baptist vestry next Friday evening.

Miss Ernestine Chesley formerly of this town was married Wednesday evening at her home in St. Johnsbury to Mr. McCae.

LYNDON

Mr. and Mrs. George Gour and two grandsons, Howard and George Treifen, went Friday to Hartford, Conn., for a short visit.

Mrs. Oscar Field went Friday to the Mary Fletcher Hospital at Burlington for treatment.

Temperance Sunday was observed by a union service in the Methodist church last Sunday. Rev. Mr. Clark preached an excellent temperance sermon.

The Ladies Aid Society of the Methodist church will hold their annual meeting for the election of officers next week Wednesday, Nov. 18, with Mrs. Scott Farnum. The business meeting will be held in the afternoon and reports of the year's work will be read. A chorale supper will be served at 6 o'clock followed by a social in the evening.

Mrs. Minerva Stevens, who has been at Lyndonville caring for Mrs. Pease, has returned home.

Installation of Rev. F. B. Richards.

On Tuesday of last week Rev. Frederick B. Richards was installed pastor of the North Congregational Church. The council convened at four in the afternoon with the churches in the county well represented. At 6 o'clock supper was served to 125 persons. The after-dinner speakers were Rev. Charles R. Brown, D.D., dean of the Yale School of Religion, Mr. Richards, Rev. George A. Martin and Judge Walter P. Smith. The services of installation were held in the church auditorium at 7:30. Rev. C. H. Merrill, moderator, and Rev. Donald Fraser, scribe, reported the council meeting and the invocation was by Rev. J. J. Hutchinson of Lyndonville. The charge to the pastor was given by Rev. Paul Dwight Moody, and the charge to the people by Rev. Edward G. French of Hardwick. The sermon of installation was by Dean Brown and was a most interesting and helpful talk from the text, John 2:7, "Fill ye the water jars." And they filled them up to the brim.

Mr. Richards is a native of Massachusetts and a graduate of Amherst College and Yale Divinity School. He began the ministry as a missionary in Wisconsin, was pastor of the Bethany Mission of Broadway Tabernacle, temporary pastor of the Tabernacle, pastor of the 14th Street Presbyterian Church, New York City, and came to St. Johnsbury from the Phillips Church in South Boston.

WHEELOCK

Joseph Barber, a life long resident of this town suffered a serious shock Sunday and at this writing is very low. Mr. Barber and his wife are both in poor health and for the past two years closed their house and have been living with their daughter.

Remember the Grange meeting Saturday evening, as it is election of officers.

The young people have a dance at Mechanics Hall this Thursday evening.

Mrs. S. G. Cree passed away last Sunday morning after a long period of illness and suffering. She has been confined to her bed for the past seven years. She was beloved by every one and one had only to visit her to receive a lesson of patience. So sunny was her disposition it was a delight to visit her bedside. She leaves beside her aged husband, one brother, Fred Burbank, of Toronto, Ont., who was privileged to be with her in her last days, and three sons, George, George Lyndonville, T. J. Cree of Concord, N. H., and L. N. Cree, who lives at home. The funeral took place Tuesday. Burial was in the Wheelock cemetery, Rev. Fred Wilcock officiating.

CLASSES IN COOKING.

An Extension Course Offered to the Women of St. Johnsbury.

The following extension courses in cookery of ten lessons each, are offered to the women of St. Johnsbury. The date of registration will be Thursday, Dec. 17, from 7 to 9 P. M., and the first meeting of the classes will be during the week of January 4, immediately following Christmas vacation.

Attention will be paid in these courses not only to the processes of cooking and of serving, but also to the classification, composition and nutritive value of foods. Emphasis will be laid upon the importance of the wise selection of food to secure suitable combinations and pleasing variety in well-balanced rations that meet the needs of the body.

1. Plain cookery. This course aims to give instruction and practice in plain cookery. Economy of time and labor will be emphasized in the preparation of the foods under the following heads:

Meats—Choice cuts, cheaper cuts, fish, vegetables, plain breads, salads—dressings, cakes—butter, sponge; puddings, frozen desserts, plain creams and ices.

2. Advanced cookery. This course dealing with the more elaborate preparation of food is outlined as follows:

Soups and garnishes; fish, sauces, vegetables; meat; entrees—scalloped dishes, timbale casses, croquettes, croissants, apple jelly; fancy breads—dainties; salads—dressings; pastry—plain, puff; puddings, cakes, cookies; frozen desserts, fancy ices and creams; preparation and serving of a meal or request lesson.

3. Economical cookery. This course is planned for those who may desire to decrease the grocery bill and still provide attractive, nourishing meals from less expensive foods. The following foods will be considered from these points of view, preparation, cost and nutritive value.

Thick soups and chowders; cheaper cuts of meat; left over meats, fish and vegetables; meat substitute; desserts—puddings, cookies, jellies, ice cream.

RECENT DEATHS.

Webber.

James A. Webber, aged 50, died at his home on the North Danville road Sunday morning after a year's illness with hardening of the arteries. He was born in Danville, P. Q., and for many years worked as laborer at the scale factory. He is survived by his wife, two sons, two daughters, two brothers and four sisters, besides his aged father, Wilbur Webber, of Victory. The funeral will be at the Methodist Church at 12 o'clock today and the burial will be at Lyndon Center.

Chandler.

Mrs. Elizabeth C. Chandler, for more than 50 years a resident of Chicago, passed away Oct. 28 at her home in Oak Park, at the age of 77 years. Her maiden name was Curtis and she was born in St. Johnsbury, educated at St. Johnsbury Academy, studied music and became a famous vocalist. In 1884 she married George Chandler of Concord, a captain in the Union army who afterwards moved to Chicago and became a leading lawyer of the city. The remains were brought to Concord, N. H., for burial.

Cutting.

Mrs. Stillman Cutting died suddenly at her home in Waterford at an early hour Tuesday morning after a long illness following a nervous breakdown 16 years ago. The funeral will be held from the home Thursday afternoon at 1 o'clock. Mrs. Cutting was one of three daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Amos Carpenter and the three sisters were married on the same night 44 years ago. But one sister, Mrs. S. J. Hastings, survives her.

SOCIAL EVENTS.

One of the happiest society events in many a day was the dinner party Friday arranged by W. A. Ricker in observance of Mrs. Ricker's birthday. The affair was a complete surprise to Mrs. Ricker, who had no suspicion that she was to be honored. She and Mr. Ricker were invited by some friends to have supper with them at the St. Johnsbury House but no warning was given that they would find a room full of guests, the guests including Mrs. Ricker's daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Philip Thompson of Yonkers, N. Y., her son, Albert Ricker of Boston and her mother, and brother, Mrs. Eliza Esden and George Esden of Peacham. At 8:30 a delicious dinner, with all the courses, was served from tables arranged in the form of a letter U, and decorated with Christmas ferns and pink carnations. The same color scheme of pink and green was carried out in the place cards which were of the state flower, the clover. A huge birthday cake gaily decorated with the correct number of candles was an object of special interest.

In behalf of the company, A. B. Novos presented Mrs. Ricker with a gold necklace and pendant. Mrs. Ricker responded prettily. Mrs. Ricker remembered her with a costly fur coat and she received other gifts including many choice flowers. From the hotel the company adjourned to the Ricker home on Summer street where they made merry with old-time songs and conversation. Mr. Ricker has reason to be delighted with the success of his party for rarely is a surprise party such a genuine success in every way as was this one.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred L. Marcotte were very pleasantly surprised last Friday evening when about 50 of their friends called to remind them of their 20th wedding anniversary. Laughlin's orchestra furnished music throughout the evening. Mrs. George Chamberlain sang an appropriate selection. Mrs. Homer Carpenter playing the accompaniment, and whist and dancing were enjoyed. Refreshments of cake and coffee were served. Mr. and Mrs. Marcotte received many gifts of linen and china, a bouquet of carnations from the Outlook club of which Mrs. Marcotte is an active member, a bouquet of 20 chrysanthemums which was presented to them in a very pleasing manner by their nephew, Master Fred Shastany, and two large wedding cakes, decorated with candles from their daughters, Mrs. I. A. Chickering and Mrs. George Marcotte.

The Missionary Round Table was entertained last evening by Miss Mary E. Ide.
